"THROUGH THESE DOORS"

In the 1966-67 school year, the educational doors of Ben Davis High School led to the enrichment of the lives of "Giants" in many ways.

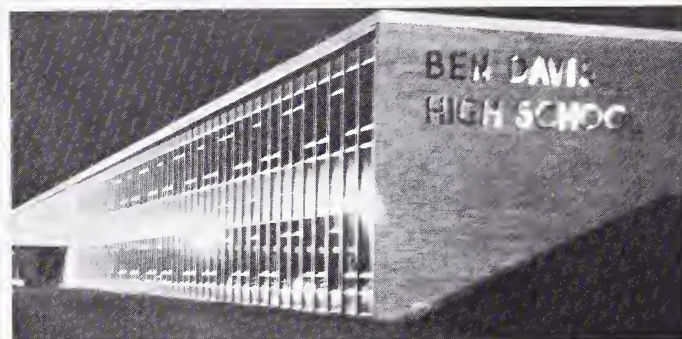

Turning the pages of the 1967 Keyhole, you will be introduced to a year of life at Ben Davis, through the doors of academics, activities, athletics, people, and advertising.

The doors of academics opened the minds of pupils who accepted the opportunity to further their education. The new Ben Davis principal, Mr. Billy Abel, and 99 faculty members guided this undertaking.

The doors of activities opened the social life of pupils, who were active club members. BD-ites attended the productions The Miracle Worker, Camelot, and Gramercy Ghost presented by the Mask and Gavel Club. The Mighty Marching Giants captured their fourth State Fair Championship.

The doors of athletics opened to the competitive spirits of athletes and fans. The 1966-67 football team was the first to win on the new football field. Other sportsmen also made valuable contributions to the athletic history of BDHS.

The doors of advertising opened the path to better community relationships for pupils and staff alike.

Time before school is opportunity to visit

Leaving a bus, Barbara Baker, Jim Keeling, Gayla Graper, Tom Miller, Marshall Litter II, and Gary Hinkle arrive at school.

As Debby Loy gets books from her locker, Beth Klein and Jenny Bloomer share plans for the day.

Doors played a significant role in the before-school activities at Ben Davis High School this year.

Giants entered the doors of the building many times long before the start of their first class. They hurriedly finished incomplete assignments or went to the library to browse or to do some quick research.

They often stood and talked with friends at open locker doors. They waited for the folding door of the bookstore to open so that they could buy needed supplies. Counselors kept their doors open to all pupils before school in order to answer questions and to help with personal problems. Pupils strolled the halls waiting for the five-minute bell to sound as a warning to get to their first class.

Pupils keep

Attending school meant more than merely attending class. Throughout the day pupils took care of many areas of personal interest and business.

Various clubs met during the home-room period, and many pupils were involved in such meetings every day. Wednesdays were set aside as guidance days, and everyone was required to remain in his homeroom for counselling purposes.

The lunch hour served as a break in the day for both pupils and teachers. Socializing with friends, paying club dues, purchasing tickets for athletic and dramatic events, and running other such errands took place during the lunch period.

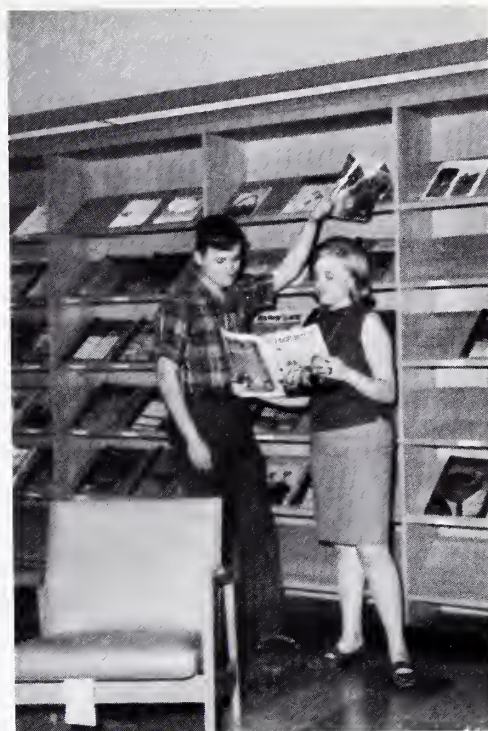

After school, pupils attended athletic, music, and play practices, special club meetings, and other extra activities. Sooner or later, though, thoughts of homework forced pupils to leave for home.

Studying is sometimes done in an unusual manner demonstrates Chris Francis as she studies on the step-ladder in the Book Den.

Some people even study in study hall. Karen Gore proves this fact.

anywhere and everywhere to study, learn

Although studying is difficult while playing the clarinet, Karen Morgan finds that it is not impossible.

Thoughts of school always led to thoughts of homework and studying. The main reason for attending school was to learn, and Ben Davis pupils kept this in mind throughout the year.

Many and varied places served as scenes of that learning. It began in class where lectures and discussions took place and assignments were made. Studying continued as preparations were made for the next day's class. Many pupils prepared assignments through library research and in study halls. Others did almost all of their work at home. Those more pressed for time studied a while here and there—before school, between classes, during the lunch hour, and on the bus. Cramming sessions were especially popular before mid-term and final examinations. Most Ben Davis students will probably never forget the studying that was essential to the learning process.

Last minute studies are done outside the building by Lisa LaMar, Terry Rowlan, Diana Baker, Hank Arnold, John Villigas, Sarah Neiswinger, and Dave Cooper.

The Fisher Body Corporation set up a display following their convocation.

Many interesting convocations were presented at Ben Davis High School last year. Lincoln Day, the Fisher Body demonstration, Al Unser's Safety program, and the Foreign Exchange Student Christmas convos were not only enjoyable, but educational as well. Convocations for entertainment included Vic Hyde's one-man band, Indiana University's Gymnastics team, and the U.S. Naval Academy Glee Club. Christmas and the Good Friday convocations provided the student body with a religious atmosphere for those seasons.

Foreign exchange student adapts well to

Coming from the small island of Kyushu, America was new to Ben Davis' third foreign exchange student, Mizuho Koda. Mizuho, who preferred to be called Mitzi, had no trouble adjusting to her new high school.

As a senior at Ben Davis, Mitzi had a moderately light schedule, compared to her classes in Japan. Besides her regular courses, she was an active member in Student Council, Mask & Gavel, and was a "Mighty Marching Giant." After graduation, Mitzi looked forward to entering the International Christian University in Japan, with hopes of becoming an English teacher.

1967 Prom

An evening of excitement was in store for the BDites May 20 at the Indiana Roof. Girls were busily fixing their hair and polishing fingernails, while their dates were washing cars, pressing slacks and straightening ties.

When they finally arrived at the "big dance", they followed the crowd to the ballroom to dance to the romantic music of the Jim Edison band.

When the hands of the clock reached 10:30, everyone began to swing off the floor and waited patiently for the announcement of royalty. Shortly thereafter the names of Prince and Princess, Tom Brissey and Jan Rodgers, were announced. Applause then thundered for Ellen Ristow and Jim Kingery, who were named Queen and King of the '67 Prom.

As the clock struck midnight and the Prom ended, couples left behind the fun of the evening and anticipated an enjoyable picnic the following day.

courses, up-dates program

"We have changed our grouping policy, and we are experimenting with new and different things," said Miss Jean Prichard, English department head. The new grouping policy allows the department to schedule advanced classes and give exemption tests to determine a student's capacity in English.

Six credits are required by the state to graduate, but most students are now graduating with eight or more. After the pupils have completed the required four semesters of English, they have a wide choice of electives from which to choose. All junior and senior classes are now elective, but a junior must choose two electives. The department has increased the number of courses offered here, and they are up-dating their program. Grammar is no longer a required subject, but is combined with literature and composition classes. The English department also offered language development. This new course is beneficial for those students interested in linguistics.

BD Science Department opens doors to Studying a chart on DNA is a group of Mr. McCool's biology students.

"Lab today!" This expression became more common and meaningful among pupils in the Ben Davis Science Department last year. Laboratory experiments were expanded and made more comprehensive due to demanding college requirements. Advanced chemistry and physics courses were designed to help prepare students for college.

Biology I and II was offered as a general course which included botany and zoology. It was a prerequisite for advanced biology, which was available only to juniors and seniors. Either of the two semesters of advanced biology might have been taken separately. The first semester, Biology III was a botany course. Biology IV consisted of comparative anatomy, in which students dissected sharks and cats and studied their structures in comparison to the human body.

Practical science, formerly physical science, was available to those who wanted a general study in the science area.

The Science Department, under the supervision of Mr. Daryl Miller, aimed to better prepare BDHS students for a place in a science-oriented world.

Checking his laboratory procedure is Junior Lorry Huffmon.

Math department offers varied courses

Mr. Ernest Brown explains closed and open sets to his Algebra I class.

Using an overhead projector helps Mrs. Juanita Pugh explain a point.

The similarity of triangles is proved by Don Doiley in geometry.

The logarithm of a root of a number is equal to the logarithm of the number divided by the index of the root. Sound familiar? This is the language of math, and it is quite familiar to those enrolled in a math course at Ben Davis. Although only two credits in math are required to graduate, many students are now taking minors or majors in this field. In all, eight separate math courses, for a total of twelve credits, are offered.

The desire by colleges and businesses for people with a math background has made math essential.

Miss Nina Martin has been head of the mathematics department for the past 23 years.

Adding machines are used by Melinda Byers and Kathleen Carver in business machines class.

Bob Farley and Cathy Collins file papers in typing class.

Study, practice develop skills in business

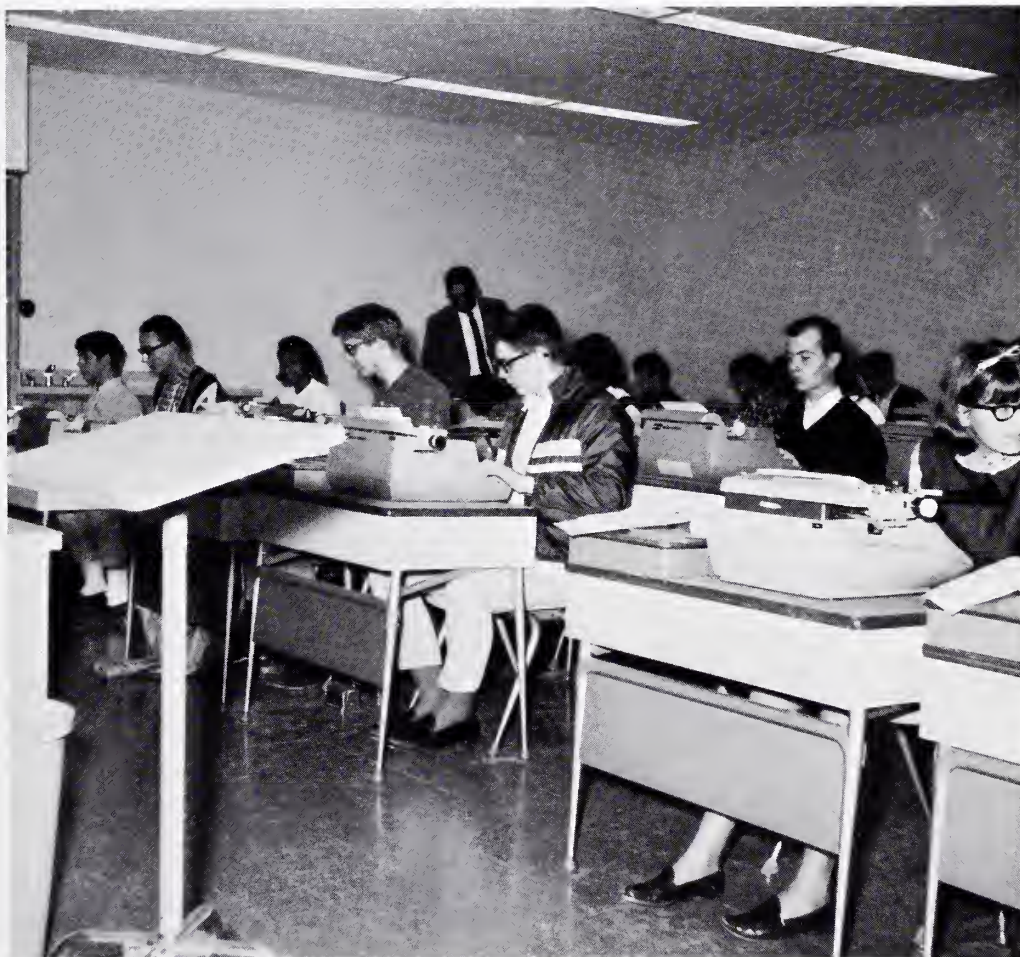

Answering telephones, running errands, taking dictation, and typing and working in the Book Den gave valuable business training to many Ben Davis boys and girls.

Business education classes at BDHS were designed to equip students with skills useful in the business world.

For the first time, data processing was offered to the business seniors. They learned to read computer cards and to make reports from their findings. Other classes such as business machines, accounting, bookkeeping and business law were offered.

All those enrolled in business classes were not necessarily planning for business vocations. Many took courses to aid them in their daily life or in college.

Mr. Lorne Jackson, head of the department, and thirteen business teachers instruct 99% of Ben Davis students.

Students take a timed writing to measure accuracy and speed.

Bill Wakefield broadcasts news on WBDG-FM.

"This is WBDG, 90.9 on your FM dial," was a familiar line to all radio students. Under the direction of Mr. Robert Berry, radio students learned announcing, writing, engineering, interviewing, and sportscasting.

For the first time, every radio student was required to pass the Federal Communication Commission 3rd Class Radiotelephone exam. By possessing a 3rd class license, the students were eligible to work on a commercial station.

Radio Station WBDG provided complete play-by-play coverage of all home football and basketball games. It also provided a Community Calendar as well as top tunes for teens.

Running a tape, Bev Bier broadcasts a daily show.

WBDG-FM adds television

production, speech courses offer variety

Demonstrating the proper techniques of shaving is Gary Crocker.

The Speech Department at Ben Davis had many goals. Of these, the most important was to train pupils to think logically and clearly, and to critically analyze what others have said. Courses in this department also helped prepare pupils for college and for positions in the business world. Besides courses in speaking, courses in dramatics and history of language were offered. The opportunity to work on the radio station, WBDG, also came from classes in this department. A course in television production was offered to those who had satisfactorily completed Radio II. Mr. Larry Highbaugh, department chairman, was assisted last year by two new teachers, Mr. H. Max McQueen and Miss Linda Tomlin.

Social studies, language classes cultivate

Students in social studies classes learned to understand world problems by studying other civilizations and cultures. The social studies staff of twelve teachers was headed by Miss Olive Carruthers.

Pupils were required to study United States history, government, and a one-semester elective. As juniors, they studied the economical and political progress of our country in U.S. History. In government classes, seniors prepared for their lives as productive citizens.

World history students studied the progress of the world throughout the centuries to gain insight into present problems. Psychology and sociology helped pupils gain a fuller understanding of themselves, their backgrounds, and reactions to life. Economics students gained knowledge of the business structure of the world, and geography classes studied the people, the customs, and the physical characteristics of the world.

A geography class listens to a lecture by Mr. James Hobson.

Mr. Mimis Antonopoulos points out areas of Colonial America to his U.S. History class.

Portraying Patrick Henry, Coral Crawford takes part in a colonial press conference.

understanding of past and present eras

Tapes are run for a foreign language pupil in the lab.

Bill Lindquist and Kay Camden look up words in a Spanish-English dictionary.

With the vast growth of travel in the world today, the advantage of learning another language is very important. The language department, headed by Mrs. Ina Hyde, had approximately 550 students enrolled in language courses last year.

Three years of Spanish and Latin, and four years of French were offered. For the first time since 1917, German was taught at Ben Davis. Three years of German have been planned for the future curriculum.

Those who studied language listened to recordings of native speakers and repeated what they heard. This helped them to develop the correct accent.

"The techniques and equipment of this department are the best available," said Mrs. Hyde.

Miss Elena Chromar lectures to her Spanish class.

Vocations in industrial arts,

Arranging a center piece, Danna England, right, demonstrates proper techniques for Wanda Nevins and Joyce Bedrick.

After pinning patterns and cutting fabrics, Ann Davis, Pam Harnoday, and Raberta Lewis work on a pair of slacks.

Vocational Home Economics courses, under department head Mrs. Kay Dunbar, stressed better knowledge of home-making skills.

Foods II emphasized more advanced food preparation. Foods III and IV, which stressed special meals, were also offered.

To those interested in sewing, four courses were available. Clothing I was offered, with Foods I in junior high. Purchasing clothes and renovating garments was studied in Clothing II. In the third and fourth semesters the students constructed tailored garments.

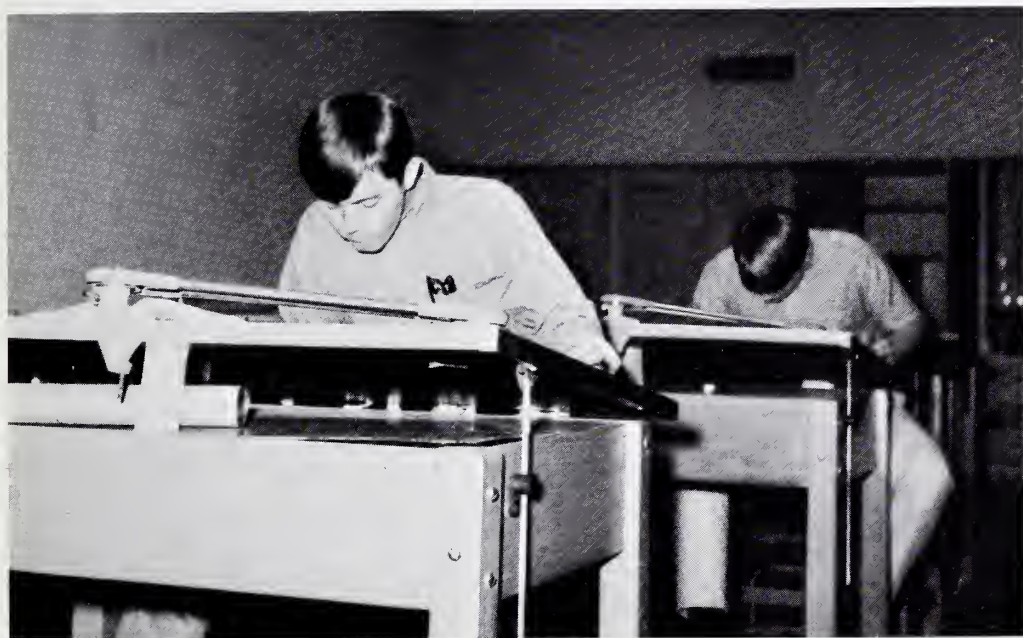

Family relations and family living were studies of family life and child development.

Interior decorating applied principles of color and design. General homemaking was a study of family life and home management.

These vocational courses were important aids to students interested in improving homemaking skills and learning better home management.

home economics now faced by graduates

Finishing the plans for a building, Mike Fahrbach completes the prints in architectural drawing class.

Industrial Arts gave students previews of vocations in industry.

Last year pupils had the opportunity to use the electro-plating machine. This allowed pupils to put a lustrous shine on their projects.

Drafting gave pupils an idea of what to look for in careers as engineers. Woods and metals taught pupils how to construct items made of these materials, so they would be ready to take jobs in the field of carpentry and metal workers. Other various courses are auto shop, plastics and ceramics, exploratory building trades and synthetic materials.

Mr. James Taylor headed the Industrial Arts Department.

Mr. Morrow gives Glen Coleson instructions on using a table saw.

An acetylene torch is used by Dennis Long and Wayne Shepherd to join pieces of metal.

Being contest-minded, the Art Department entered art competitions throughout the entire school year. Among those contests the students entered were the Ayres Scholastic, Poppy Poster, AAA Motor Club, and Maritime National contests.

A new course, jewelry, was added to the art department last year. Materials used in jewelry by the students to make useful items were brass, copper, aluminum, and soft wire. This will enlarge the curriculum to five courses.

Art classes, which have been among the most popular at Ben Davis, had approximately 270 students enrolled. Having been in the new school for two years, Mrs. Strouse, department head, was very proud of the number of students interested in art at Ben Davis.

Cutting construction paper for her geometrical design is Cathy Stites.

Mr. Robert Horton takes the band through a practice session.

Music wasn't all singing, playing, and performing. Students had the opportunity to go deeper into the music field by studying music theory and literature.

Under the direction of Mrs. Geraldine Miller, the Girls Chorus and the Cadet Choir learned to read music for their own enjoyment and for participation in performing groups. Those who had one semester in the training choirs, had the opportunity to audition for the performing choirs.

Under department head Mr. Hal Meuer, the music department focused on helping pupils to appreciate a variety of music.

The reserve band was a training ground for the concert band. Tryouts for all junior high band members were in the Spring.

The Marching Giants began their 1966-67 season in mid-summer by greeting President Johnson when he visited Indianapolis. They performed at the Starlight Musical production of "Music Man" and participated in the Switzer Fest in Tell City, Indiana. The Marching Giants traveled from there to a performance at Coney Island in Cincinnati, Ohio. The summer was climaxed when the Ben Davis Marching Giants placed first in the Indiana State Fair marching competition for the fourth time. An award for the best salute to Indiana in the contest was given to them from the Sesquicentennial Commission.

The Fall Festival Parade at Ellettsville, Indiana, and all home football games were included in the fall marching season. Indiana State University's band exchanged homecoming performances with the Ben Davis band. The Veterans' Day and Santa Claus parades ended the fall performances.

During the spring, the bandmen marched at the "500" Parade and race. Five concerts were also included in the year's performances.

The Marching Giants ended the year with the invitational trip to Expo '67, the World Exhibition in Montreal, Canada.

Posing with the Indiana State Fair first place trophy are Head Majorette Cannie Jones and Drum Majors Ray Poland and Rod Farmer.

Majorettes lead precisioned marchers

Demonstrating their well-disciplined style are members of the majorette corps.

Aiding the band in presenting performances with variety, were the majorettes. Head majorette Connie Jones was assisted by sixteen other girls. All members wore new white and purple uniforms which added to the "Mighty Giant" look.

Majorettes were selected from the regular band roster and played a band instrument. They were chosen by appearance and marching ability.

Just prior to the beginning of regular summer band rehearsals, they attended one week of majorette camp. They played in either the concert or reserve band during the remainder of the year.

Recognition, fun and knowledge were all gained from membership in Purple-Aires. This group of 47 music pupils represented Ben Davis in many school and community events. Chosen by audition in the Spring, these pupils must have previously completed one semester in a training choir.

Christmas programs, a Spring concert, the State Choral Festival and the State Choral Contest were a few of the performances in which the group participated. The officers for the past year were: Charles Hodges, president; Bruce Parker, vice-president; Pamela Northern, secretary; Dixie Smith, treasurer; and Tom Brown, sergeant-at-arms. Mrs. Geraldine Miller directed the Purple-Aires.

Highlights, Starlights add sparkle to convos

Choral Belles, an all-girl group, was selected by audition in the spring. These girls, dressed in purple dresses with white jackets, added appropriate dramatic actions to their musical selections.

Madrigals were a group of 16 chosen from Purple-Aires. Fifteenth and sixteenth century motets and madrigals were sung by the group. In keeping with the tradition of madrigal groups, the girls wore long, delustered satin formals in various pastel shades. Also, a Madrigal Dinner added to the authenticity of the Madrigal's year.

Nine girls, from Purple-Aires, made up Starlights. These girls sang light, contemporary music. New turquoise, crepe, and lace dresses were the girls' outfits.

Songs to please the gentlemen in the audience were sung by Highlights. These eight boys were also members of Purple-Aires.

Classes stress fitness, driving safety

A sound mind and a sound body went hand in hand at BDHS. Although only one year of physical education was required for graduation, many students took advantage of the new gymnasium and enrolled in advanced physical education courses.

Restricted physical education was offered for those physically unable to participate in regular classes.

A most vital role was played by the driver education department at Ben Davis. Although driver education was not required, over 350 students were enrolled last year. The aim of the department was to develop cautious and responsible drivers.

Mr. Marion Fine and Mr. Woodrow Baker were chairmen of the physical education and driver education departments, respectively.

Library and audio-visual aid pupils' studies

The library and audio-visual centers contributed to Ben Davis academics this year.

In addition to the library's budget, gifts helped add 1500 volumes to the shelves. The library staff, under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Lefler, was expanded to include sixteen student assistants and two librarians.

The audio-visual center, under the direction of Mr. William Girton, provided teachers with equipment for making classroom work more interesting and thorough.

Student Council, National Honor Society

"To encourage the development of qualities of leadership and citizenship in the students of Ben Davis High School" was the main purpose of the Student Council.

The Student Council sponsored an all-school party, Football Homecoming, Teacher Appreciation Day, the local American Field Service program, and several convocations. Newly developed ideas were Career Day, the International Day Dinner, and a School Partnership Program to aid in the building of foreign schools.

Leslie Oliver, President; Kathy Andrews, Vice-President; Tana Smith, Secretary; Linda Combs, Treasurer; Sharon Pierpont, Parliamentarian; and Connie Jones, Historian, worked diligently under Miss Carolyn Lincks and Mr. John Shaw to serve the student body.

To qualify for membership in the National Honor Society, juniors had to be in the top five percent of their class, and seniors in the upper ten percent. Students with these scholastic standings were voted for by the teachers, on the basis of scholarship, character, leadership, and service.

National Honor Society activities included a formal initiation, the "Honor Hop" for honor roll students, the annual NHS Banquet with guest speaker Mrs. Mildred Jones, Dean of Women at Butler University, and a Spring picnic.

The sponsors of the organization were Miss Olive Curruthers, Mr. Robert Seeman, and Miss Lynda Tomlin. The officers were: Kenny Pierce, President; Linda Klenk, Vice-President; Chris Kellogg, Secretary; and Pam Weaver, Treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. Klein accompany their daughter, Mary Beth, to the National Honor Society's Spring Bonquet.

Delivering his speech for the National Honor Society Initiation is senior Stan Berg.

Quill and Scroll initiates Judy Vincent, Sony Smiley, Noncy Confield, and Thereso Vidito pay particular attention as President Dionno Shepherd officiates.

Mark Williams, Quill & Scroll Vice-President, reads a portion of the initiation ceremony.

The Max Galloway Chapter of Quill and Scroll, national high school journalism honorary, continued many of its traditional activities.

Two formal initiations were held in which members were presented with pins and reminded of what membership in Quill and Scroll signifies.

The organization again awarded Gold Keys to the two outstanding seniors, and Silver Keys to the two outstanding juniors.

An awards banquet held in May closed the year's activities.

Mr. James Ray, Sponsor, directed the leadership of officers Dianna Shepherd, President; Mark Williams, Vice-President; Kathy Clare, Secretary; and Wilma Gilley, Treasurer.

Mu Alpha Theta, the honorary math club at BDHS, required its members to have above average scholastic standings in math subjects and a "C" average in all other subjects.

The prime purposes of this organization were to recognize outstanding math pupils and to urge BD-ites in math courses to do their best work.

The annual project of the club, decorating a Christmas tree in the cafeteria, was carried out last year.

The sponsor of the club was Miss Nina Martin, mathematics department head, and the officers were Kenny Pierce, President; Linda Klenk, Vice-President; Dave Sinclair, Secretary-Treasurer.

The chemistry lecture room was often the scene of Mu Alpha Theta meetings.

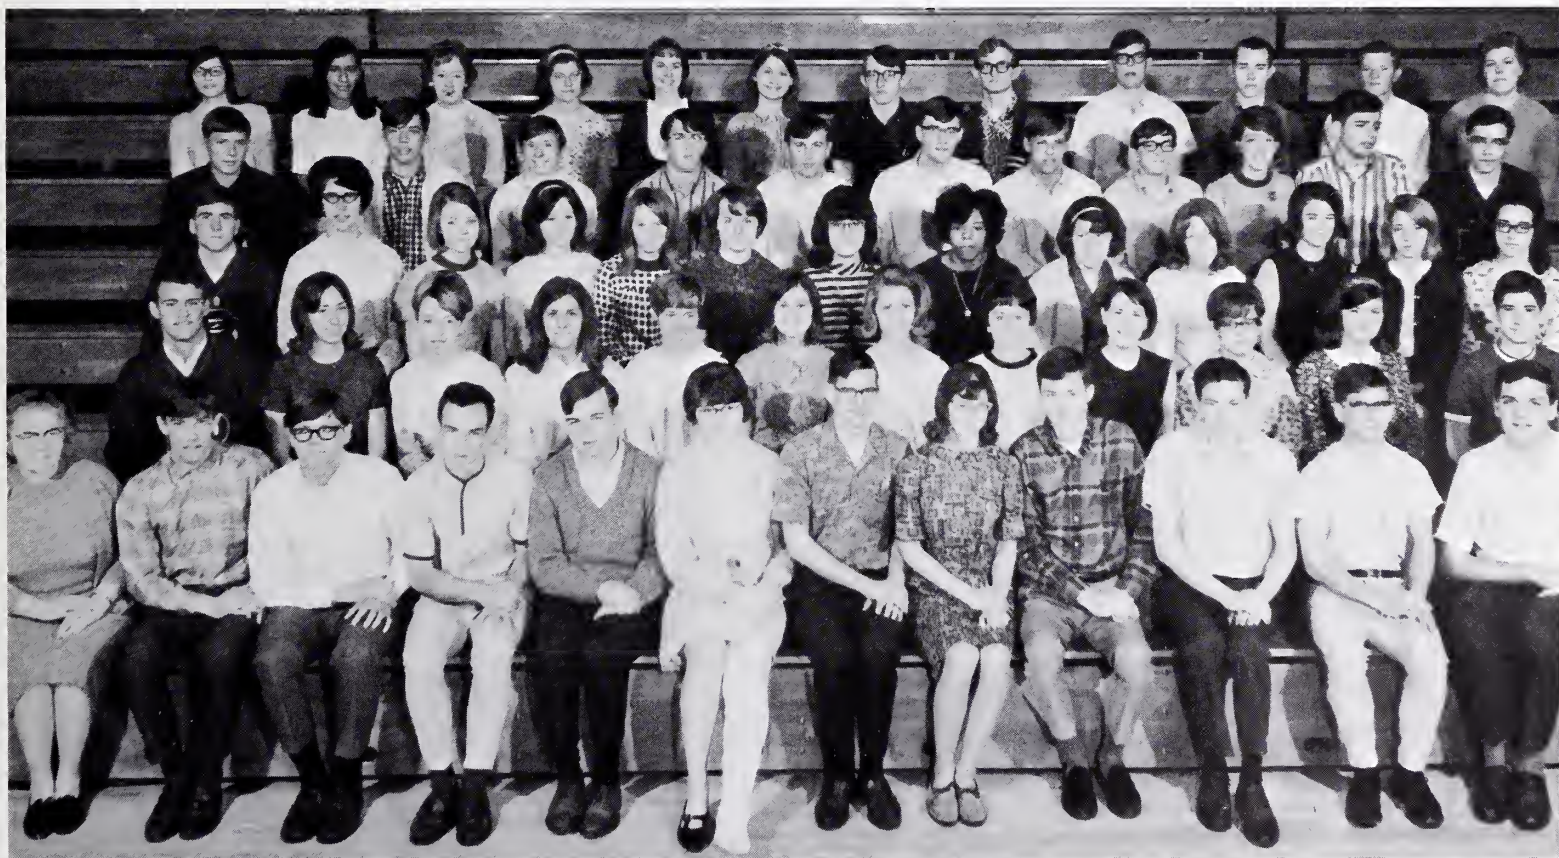

Minutes of a previous meeting are checked by Miss Martin and Dave Sinclair.

The Science Club, sponsored by Mr. Jack Jester and Mrs. Donna Reece, had an active year. One of the educational highlights of the club's activities was a liquid nitrogen demonstration by representatives of Linde Division, Union Carbide Corporation. To qualify for membership, a student had to be enrolled in either physics, chemistry, or advanced biology.

Math Club, the Ben Davis Math Club, was available to all students enrolled in Algebra I or higher math courses. The club met once a month under the sponsorship of Miss Nina Martin, head of the math department. At meetings, members solved math puzzles and worked problems. Officers were: Terry Riley, President; Jerry Walden, Vice-President; Sue LaRue, Secretary; Kenny Pierce, Treasurer.

A liquid nitrogen demonstration was given by representatives of Linde, division of Union Carbide Corporation.

Clubs further interest in social studies

The History Club grew from 175 members to 250 members last year. To compensate for the unusual size, the club divided into a sophomore club and a junior-senior club.

The History Clubs sponsored a Lincoln Day Convocation with guest speaker Mr. Ransopher of Kokomo. Films of Europe and Alaska were also part of the club's activities.

Sponsors of the junior-senior History Club were Mrs. LaVonne Zimmerman and Mr. William Price. Sophomore History Club sponsors were Mrs. Sandra Lawlis and Mr. Charles Thompson.

The Americanism Club was devoted to the study of various forms of world governments, with a special emphasis on American government. Ways to stop communism and to prevent world problems were also studied by the club.

Movies, special lectures, and a field trip to the State Legislature were all part of the club activities.

Officers were: Mark Williams, President; Anne Longstreth, Vice-President; Linda Smallwood, Secretary; Gary Trent, Treasurer; Larry Rapert, Historian. Mr. Robert Houston was sponsor.

YFC and Sunshine serve the community

Skits, lectures, song fests, and rallies were some of the activities of the Youth for Christ. The goal of the club was to help students gain a greater understanding of religious life. Club officers were: Suzie Newgent, President; Marilyn Martin and Debby Lowry, Vice-Presidents.

Working for the improvement of the community was the aim of the Ben Davis High School Sunshine Society. During the year, the club engaged in singing carols at nursing homes, preparing Thanksgiving baskets for needy families, and contributing to the Riley Hospital.

In addition to their service activities, the Sunshine Society sponsored Daddy Date Night, a spring dance, and a mothers' tea. The officers were: Sharon Pierpont, President; Linda Klenk, Vice-President; Kathy Andrews, Secretary; and Kathy German, Treasurer. Sponsoring the club were Mrs. Sandra Speicher, Mrs. Jane Atwood, and Mrs. Judith Harvey.

6th hour finds staff at work to produce

Copy Editor Zelda Chapman reviews a piece of copy submitted for the academic section of the Keyhole.

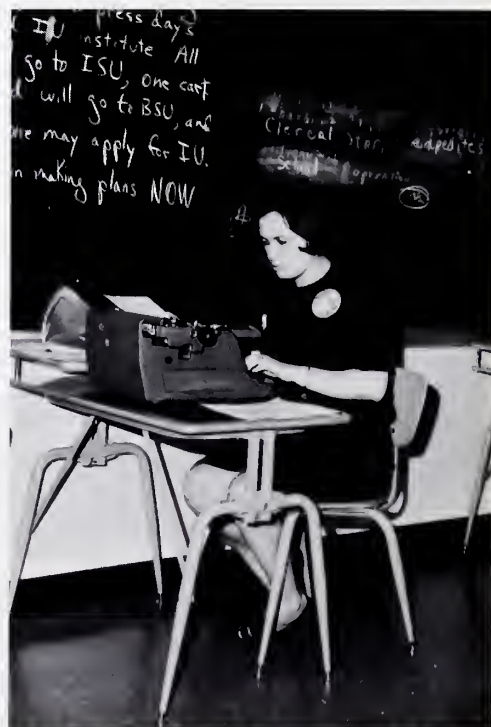

Organizing the 1967 Keyhole receipts for filing are Activities Editor Judy Vincent, Business and Advertising Manager Hank Arnold, and Album Editor Jaanne Lahr.

Photography Editor Dennis Bogden selects negatives for enlargement at the direction of Mike Phelps, Sports Editor.

Concentrated effort is needed for preparation of the index, and Latana Terrants would agree.

'67 Keyhole

Many hours of diligent work were involved in planning and completing the 1967 Keyhole. Members of the staff worked during the sixth period every day and met several times after school and during vacations to meet deadlines.

Producing only one page of the yearbook involved creating a layout, taking and cropping pictures, writing copy, captions, and headlines, properly assembling the needed materials, and shipping them in a carrier envelope to the publishing company.

Staff members attended the Ball State University Journalism Day and the Wabash Valley Press Conference at Indiana State University. They also participated in the Marion County High School Press Day at Northwest High School.

Mr. Robert Houston, Keyhole Advisor, and Ardith Hieber, Editor-in-Chief, refer to the "loder" to determine the number of yearbook pages to be completed.

Candidotes for Keyhole queen were: Judy Vincent, Koy Lee, Morcy Decker, Vetro Genoro, Liso Vogel, Kothy Andrews, queen, Georjeon Corrico, Dione Woodson, Jonice Rodgers, Lindo Pein, Debby Losh, Jeonette Eilers.

Ina Thompson, staff writer, completes a feature news story as part of her Spotlight duties.

Staffs provide

During the year, Spotlighters attempted not only to present the school news but also to inspire students to analyze their own problems.

The Spotlight staff gained many honors at the Wabash Valley Press Conference. Mark Williams took first place in newswriting and won a Gold Key for outstanding editorial writing.

The Spotlight received a medalist award for the 1966 Spotlight. The award was presented by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

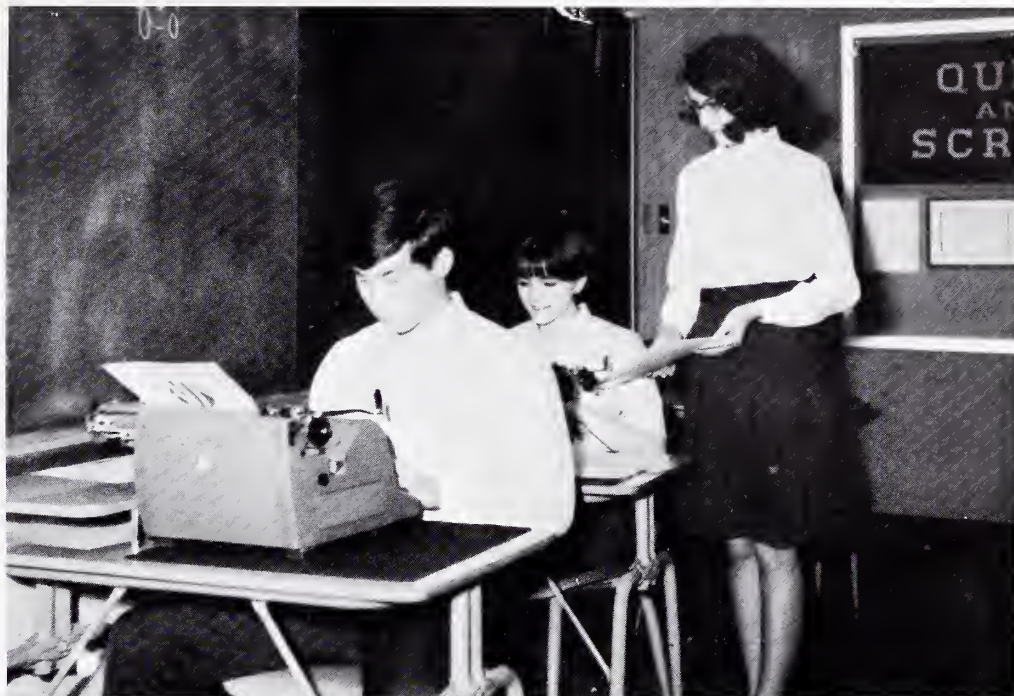

The News Bureau provided city and community newspapers with Ben Davis news.

Mr. James Roy, Spotlight advisor, gives sports editor Gary Huddleston, and writer Earl Simon a few pointers.

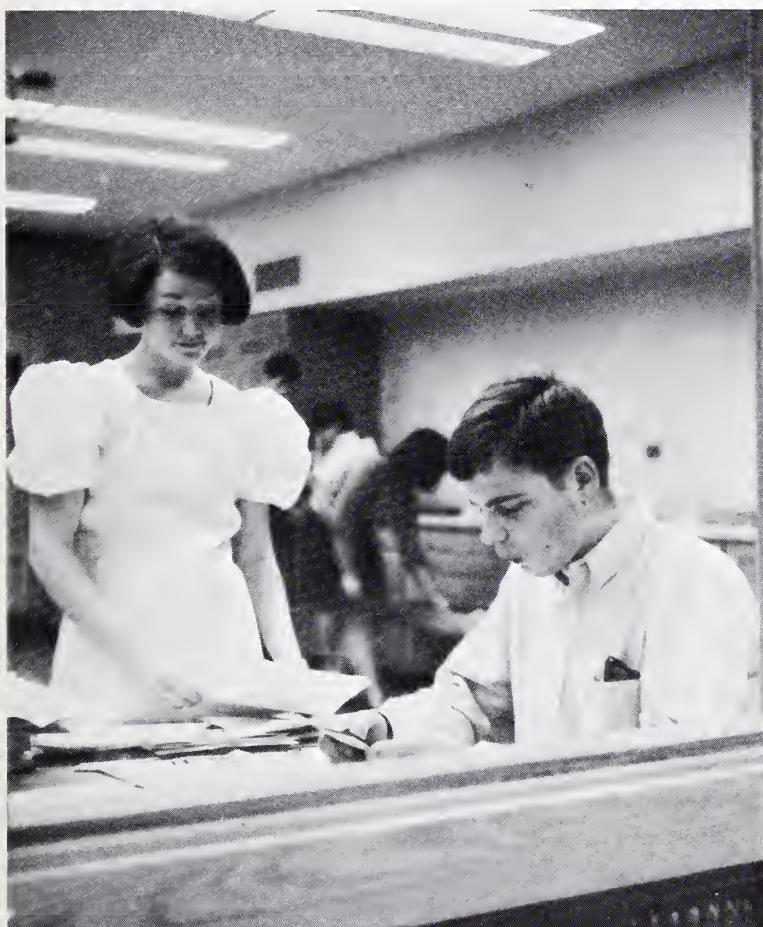

Arranging a layout for an edition of the Spotlight is page 1 editor, Kathy Clare.

Deadline—a busy time for Carl Baackhaldt, Sandy Smiley, and Barbara Suttan, Spotlight staff writers.

School, community with latest BD news

Dianna Shepherd, first semester editor, and Mark Williams, second semester editor, compare notes for a coming issue.

Pep clubs boost BD teams

"Victory, victory is our cry," as the pep session sign exclaims.

Booster Club: Seated: Tana Smith, vice-president; Jan Rogers, secretary; Debbie Kidwell, publicity chairmon; Jan Whitis, treasurer. Standing: Mrs. Marilyn Knox, spansar; Kothy Germon, president.

The Booster Club started the year by assisting in the plans for the Bonfire and other Homecoming activities. The Booster girls also entered a Homecoming float. The officers and sponsors chose one spirit-minded Booster girl each week as Spirit Girl and posted her picture along with announcements urging students to attend coming games. The cheerleaders taught their members new cheers, yells, and chants during their meetings.

Sideliners, the boys' cheer block, inspired the teams and students with their spirit during the football and basketball seasons. The athletic activities of the Sideliners included a basketball game between the Ben Davis faculty and the WIFE Good Guys. They also sponsored the "Giant 500" bicycle races. Leading the Sideliner yells were the boy yell leaders. The Sideliners promoted spirit with their booster button and booster badge sales. Club funds were used to begin furnishing the athletic building and the training room.

The Chess Club's 14 members competed in meets with chess teams from other schools at their weekly meetings. Chris Robbins and Clarence Mason played first man, alternating throughout the year. Mr. Leonard Lowe sponsored the club. Officers were: Chris Robbins, President; Dale Kernodle, Vice-President; and Terry Lazaro, Secretary and Treasurer.

The Radio Club, for the first time, has its own Ham Radio Station. Mr. Howard Howell was the Trustee of the station whose call numbers are WA9UEG. The club met three times a month during the school day and one night each week. Mr. Edgar Malone sponsored the club for the first time last year. Officers were Jim Petro, President; Mark Magnabosco, Vice-president; Terry Lazaro, Secretary; and Collin Smith, Treasurer.

Club stars speech, drama

Using a gesture to make a point is Phil Dorrell.

The Mask & Gavel Club was originally created for pupils interested in developing their skills in dramatics and forensics. Among last year's club activities were producing three major plays, presenting several one act plays, and competing in debate and speech contests.

Auditions for membership were held at the beginning of the year and were judged by members of the National Thespian Society, the honorary for pupils excelling in drama.

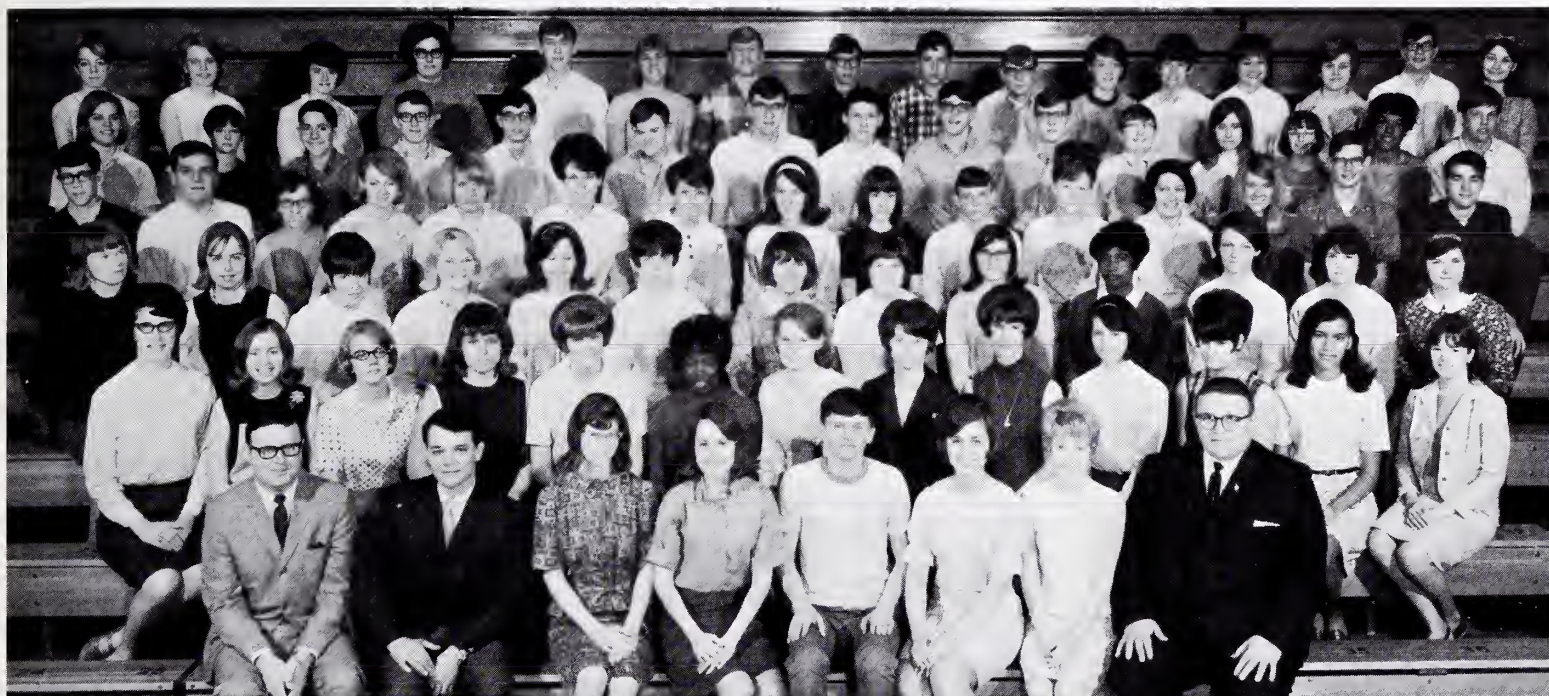

The National Forensics League was the honorary speech section of Mask & Gavel. To become a member of NFL, a pupil accumulated a minimum of 25 points at speech contests.

The Mask & Gavel Club presented three plays during the year including "Miracle Worker", a drama; "Camelot", a musical; and "Gramercy Ghost", a comedy.

The club and its sponsors, Mr. Bob Hughes, Mr. Larry Highbaugh, and Mr. Max McQueen, ended the year with a banquet.

Kathy Andrews as Anne Sullivan and Debbie Sheets as Helen Keller appear in a scene from "The Miracle Worker."

Members of Helen Keller's family discuss whether or not they should send her to an institution. Actors from "The Miracle Worker" are Debbie Sheets, Shawn Harder, Leslie Oliver, Bev Bier, and Jeff Sparks.

Plays, musical offer best

Queen Guinevere played by Leslie Oliver and King Arthur played by Ray Paland discuss problems of the kingdom in the musical, "Camelot."

Stage crew member MaDanna Speedy places a nest in the enchanted tree for "Camelot."

King Arthur, played by junior Ray Poland, and his queen Guinevere, played by senior Leslie Oliver, lived in the enchanted kingdom "Camelot." The harmony of the court was disrupted when Guinevere fell in love with Sir Lancelot, senior Jerry Walden.

Other major roles were played by: Stan Berg who was Merlin, the court magician; Joe Garner, Pellinore, an outspoken king on a quest from a distant kingdom; and Gary Tomlin, Mordred, the villain who used the love of Guinevere and Lancelot to destroy the unity of the kingdom in order to take over "Camelot".

The musical was produced by the Mask & Gavel Club in collaboration with the music department. Mr. Bob Hughes and Mrs. Geraldine Miller were directors, and Mr. Larry Highbaugh was technical director.

in drama

McGraw the ambulance driver, Connie Jones, complains to Parker Burnett, Dale Benham, about poor working conditions.

Denied having thrown a battle at Officer Marrison, Mark Downey, is Parker Burnett.

The stage version of "The Miracle Worker" demonstrated young Helen Keller's struggle to learn how to communicate with others. Debbi Sheets and Kathy Andrews, seniors, starred in the roles of Helen and her teacher, Annie Sullivan. Jeff Sparks, sophomore, and Leslie Oliver, senior, portrayed Captain and Mrs. Keller, and Shawn Harder, junior, was Helen's brother, James. Bev Bier, Phyllis Johnson, Stan Berg, and Rodney Farmer, seniors, had supporting roles.

The director was Mr. Bob Hughes, and the technical director was Mr. Larry Highbaugh.

The comedy "Gramercy Ghost" starred senior Terry Lisby as Nancy Willard who inherited a Revolutionary War ghost named Nathaniel Coombes played by senior Mike Whisler. Nancy's fiancée Parker Burnett was played by Dale Benham, senior, and her admirer Charlie Stewart was senior Jerry Sipe. Stan Berg, senior, Lester Allen, and Debbie Tuttle, sophomores, played ghost friends of Nathaniel who helped him get into heaven.

Mr. Larry Highbaugh directed the play, and Mr. Bob Hughes designed and constructed the set.

Mike Whisler as Nathaniel Coombes (Gramercy Ghost) looks over Terry Lisby as Nancy Willard and Dale Benham as Parker Burnett as they engage in serious conversation.

The Deep Purples is a mixed "swing" choir. They participated in various community events including the Community Christmas Program, the Spring Choir Concert, and township PTA meetings.

The Deep Purples was a unique group at Ben Davis. The girls wore purple chiffon and taffeta skirts with deep purple velvet tops. The boys wore white dinner jackets and black bow ties. The Deep Purples was chosen by the Indianapolis Maennerchor to help present a musical program at Clowes Hall last spring.

Officers of the Deep Purples were: Lisa LaMar, President; Charlie Hodges, Vice-President; Marcy Decker, Secretary; Leslie Oliver, Treasurer; Jerry Walden, Sergeant-at-Arms.

The Bowling Club provided its 160 members with opportunities to exercise and socialize on Tuesdays or Wednesdays after school. Teams were evenly divided and competed on a handicap basis.

During Christmas vacation, the Youth Bowling Association City and State Bowling Tournaments were held. Nancy Canfield and Ray Poland placed first in the mixed doubles. A banquet was held in May to award trophies for team and individual efforts.

Developing leadership, sportsmanship, and an understanding of athletics were the main purposes of the Ben Davis Chapter of GAA. Under the direction of Mrs. Anna Hayward, the girls competed in volleyball, basketball, and track. Managing a coat check at various school functions, and a bake sale, were money-making projects for the club.

For the first time, the BDHS chapter belonged to the state organization of the Girls' Athletic Association.

five represent BD on All-County teams

The 1966-67 football season opened with hustle and desire from the varsity squad.

Losing to top-rated schools such as Washington, Brebeuf, and North Central, the Giants were ready for Southport (14-0), Lawrence Central (14-13), Warren Central (0-0), and Shortridge (12-12).

Larry Burnett, Dan Britt and Jerry Sipe were chosen for the All-County Defensive Squad. Phil Beers was chosen for the All-County Offensive Team, while Terry Pedigo was on the second squad for both offense and defense.

Referee settles a dispute between Jim Bumpas, John Reid, Marvin Huff, and Mike Woodson and several Manual opponents.

"We could not have wanted a finer group of boys to work with," were coaches Britt and Thompson's opinion of their reserve football team. Although the boys were small for a team, they displayed spirit, hustle, and a very good attitude. With 27 boys receiving a varsity letter, the coaches said that they have done their best to prepare the up and coming varsity.

With new prospects from Ben Davis and Fulton Junior Highs, Mr. Britt and Mr. Thompson were looking forward to a very successful season next year.

Pot Isenberg and her dog, "Buddy" participate in the pep rally for Booster Club's miniature float.

This year's Homecoming marked the 10th anniversary of that event at Ben Davis.

Festivities started the night before Homecoming with a bonfire and pep rally on the football field. Queen and attendant candidates were introduced. Kathy Andrews, Terry Lisby, Ellen Ristow, and Judy Vincent were announced as candidates for queen and senior attendant. Pam Asdale, Georjean Carrico, and Linda Thompson were introduced as junior attendant candidates, and Jeannette Eilers, Sally Sexauer, and Debbie Steele were introduced as candidates for sophomore attendant.

Actual Homecoming activities began as Chuck Hibbert, master of ceremonies, welcomed alumni. Phil Hadley, Parade Marshall, led the parade of floats around the track. Immediately prior to the game, attendants were named and Jerry Sipe, captain of the football team, crowned the queen.

Halftime saw the announcement of float winners. Choral Department, Senior Class, and Bowling Club captured the first three places in that order.

Varsity, reserve cross country teams do

After finishing the race, Phil Hadley changes shoes.

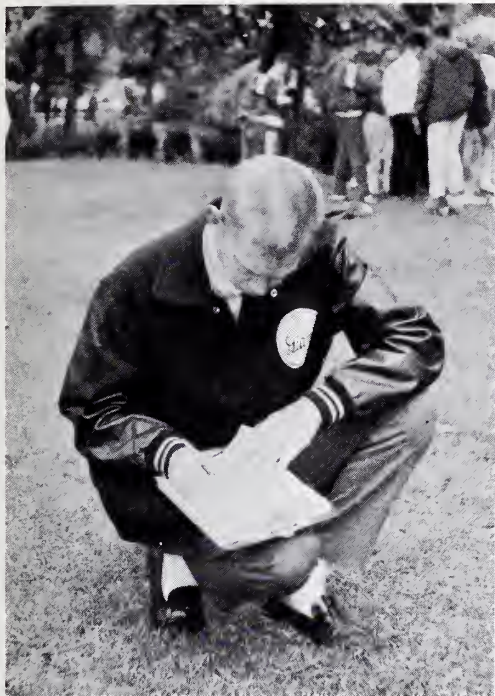

Some fine individual efforts highlighted a fair season for coach Marv Meranda and his cross country squad.

The team finished first in the Beech Grove, Lawrence Central, Ben Davis Tri-meet. They placed 13th out of 24 teams in the Columbus Invitational, and made a fine showing in the sectional meet at Riverside.

Leading the squad with the most consistent "times" over the season was senior Phil Hadley. Backing him up were seniors, Dennis Gilley, Dave Muir, Jan Schmidli, and Ralph Tolan.

"With the loss of these five seniors, next year's squad will probably be very inexperienced," said Coach Meranda. "Jack Keeler, junior, and Skip Hamilton, sophomore, will make up the backbone of the squad."

Checking final scores of County Meet is Coach Meranda.

The 1966-67 edition of the basketball Giants, under the direction of Coach Evan Fine, compiled a total record of 15 wins and eight losses for the season. The Purple and White included in this record the Marion County Basketball Championship.

Before the County Tourney, the Finemen held a seven-win, four-loss string. The final game of the county tourney pitted the highly-regarded Lawrence Central Bears against the Giants. The Giants emerged victorious, squeaking by Lawrence with a 76 to 73 margin.

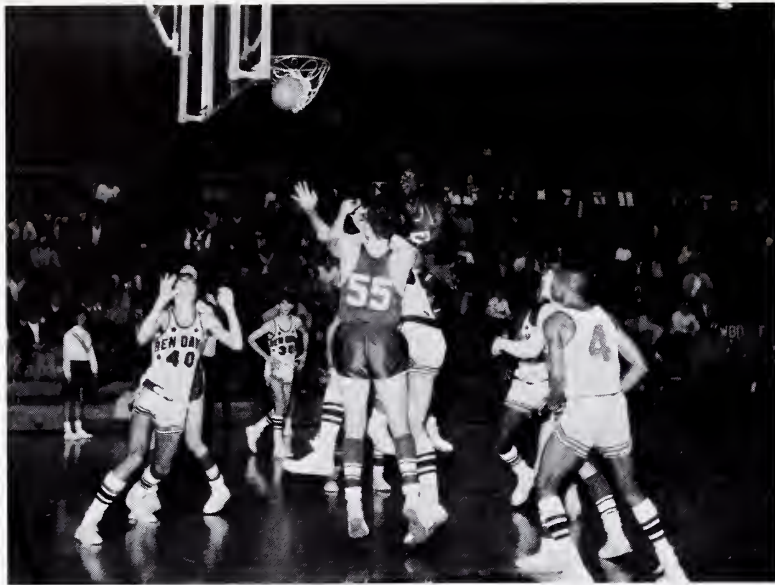

In the Indianapolis Sectional at Hinkle Fieldhouse, the basketballers from Ben Davis defeated Arlington and nearly defeated the sectional champ Tech, losing by only four points.

Although the team loses playmaker Paul West and leading rebounder Bill Abel through graduation, the Giants will have eight returning lettermen to start out the season next winter.

1967 State Champ Eugene Kappel applies the "bear-hug" to a Decatur Central grappler.

Determination and hard work paid off for the "Giant" grapplers. Coach Joseph Preda's varsity finished the season with a 9-2 record which included the County Championship. Individual victories included three County and three Sectional titles, and champions in the Regional and State meets. Rick Villegas gained the County and Sectional titles for the second year. The State Championship title in the 165 pound class went to Eugene Kappel.

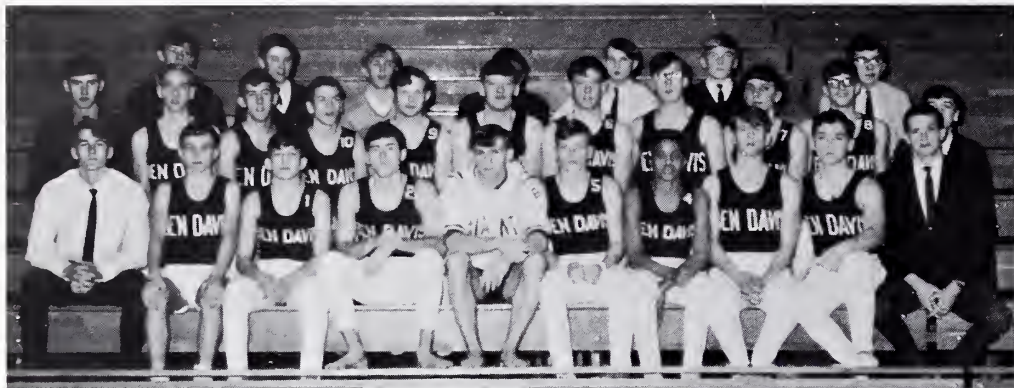

The reserve grapplers finished with a 6-4 season and showed improvement in the final matches. Reserve Coach Mr. George McCool is looking forward to a promising season next year.

First year coach Frank Knuckles led his gymnasts to a four-win, six-loss record.

The team lost Karl Bertalan, rings; Bob Thompson, rings and parallel bars; Marty Phillips, floor exercise; and Jim Petro, horse, through graduation. But Mr. Knuckles has seven returning lettermen looking for a place on next year's squad.

New to the athletic program was a girls' gymnastics team. The team, coached by Mrs. Anna Hayward, had a five-win, no-loss season. The girls also participated in the Louisville Open and the District State meets. They captured first place at Louisville and first in both the varsity and reserve meets at the District State Meet.

Varsity diamondmen win sectional title

The varsity baseball team, under Coach Kenny Cox, won nine and lost eleven. Included in this record was the Speedway Sectional Championship.

"The team was led throughout the year by the strong hitting of Gary Peters and John Yanney, seniors; and Dave Verhonick, junior", said Coach Cox. "Sophomore Joe Johnson also did an excellent job", stated Mr. Cox. Besides strong hitting, the team also produced three fine pitchers, Jim Engledaw, senior, Rick Hukill, junior, and Marv Huff, sophomore.

Coach Bob Derival's reserve team turned in a record of five wins and six losses. "The boys all worked hard, and there are nine boys who could make the varsity next year", stated Coach Derival.

Trackmen improve; vault, hurdle records fall

Last year's speed spots on the varsity track team were primarily held by underclassmen, with the exception of Jan Schmidli and Phil Hadley, seniors.

Jack Keeler set new records in the high and low hurdles with times of 14:6 seconds and 19:4 seconds. Bob Williams and Jeff Rhodes placed high throughout the season, in the pole vault and high jump.

The Sideliners Club sponsored the Ben Davis Relays, a track meet in which seven schools competed. The Ben Davis track team placed third in the meet.

Mr. Bill McClain was head coach, and Mr. Marvin Meranda assisted him.

Warming up before the meet is junior high jumper Jeff Rhodes.

Energy, spirit, and sportsmanship made up the qualities of the Ben Davis cheerleaders. There was much glory and reward in being a Varsity Cheerleader, but this did not alter the fact that there was also much work and sacrifice. They spent much of their time in planning pep sessions, and in creating new yells and motions.

Ben Davis sponsored the NCL clinic again this year. Over 1,000 girls and their sponsors attended the clinic, representing schools from all over the states.

While at Smith-Waldbridge Camp at Syracuse, Indiana, our cheerleaders won first place, which entitled each of them to a trophy.

The yell leaders volunteered, then were screened by the physical education teachers, and finally chosen by popular vote of the student body.

Both varsity and reserve yell leaders are sponsored by Mrs. Marilyn Knox.

After completing their "Varsity" cheer, "yell leaders" Jerry Sipe (tap), Danny Britt, Chuck Hibbert, Jim Kingery, and Jahn Waadsan pause before the cheer black.

Cheers boost teams, instill school spirit

Mr. Shadley had been an active member of the Wayne Township school administration since 1953 when he became principal of Ben Davis High School. In 1963 he left that post and became Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds.

Mr. Shadley had no definite plans for the future, although he did plan to travel in the United States. His main objective of retirement was to relax and take it easy, "come what may."

Checking through his files for helpful information is often a part of Mr. Shadley's job.

Board works to improve school system

Members of the school board pausing during a meeting are Mr. Ben Syphers, Mr. Ben Thompson, Mr. Paul Barz, Mr. James Baize, and Mrs. Evelyn Abbott.

The Metropolitan School District of Wayne Township included seventeen schools. Mr. Harmon Baldwin, one of the most qualified men in his field, served as Superintendent of Schools. He was aided by Mr. Frank Cline, assistant superintendent, Mr. Madison Shadley, superintendent of buildings and grounds, and Mr. Charles Camden, assistant superintendent for business. All these men labored earnestly to better the schools in the Wayne Twp. Metropolitan School District.

The purpose of the School Board was to lay a sound educational foundation for the district. Encouragement for curriculum study and experimentation at all levels was another of their many tasks. Members were Mr. Paul R. Barz, president; Mrs. Evelyn G. Abbott, vice-president; Mr. Ben F. Thompson, secretary; Mr. Ben Syphers, treasurer; and Mr. James Baize.

efficient administration operates school

In his first year, "giant" principal, Mr. Billy Abel, was responsible for various duties, including directing teachers' meetings, improving school curriculum, and evaluating the curriculum for the North Central Association.

Vice-principal Mr. Howard Williams was responsible for coordinating student and club activities. Vice-principal Mr. Robert Seeman directed guidance and registration of pupils.

Guidance of non-college-bound senior girls and girls attendance, were activities of Mrs. Rosalie Harcourt, Dean of Girls. Mr. Trent Gipson, Dean of Boys, was responsible for the guidance of non-college-bound senior boys and boys attendance.

Cooperating closely with the administration, the Parent-Teachers Association fostered greater interest in education within the Ben Davis area. Mrs. Bernard Shaw served as president, and Mr. Billy Abel, principal, occupied an advisory position.

Clerical staff expedites school operations

Records clerk Mrs. Shirley Wattjes files a schedule of classes.

Pausing from her duties as secretary of the attendance office is Mrs. Mary Alban.

Transcribing final information to a pupil's schedule is Mrs. Marge Mannuell.

Efficiency was the key to the smooth-running operation of Ben Davis High School. Providing that efficiency were the office workers, aiding the administrative staff. As clerk in the attendance office, Mrs. Mary Alban assisted the deans and counselors and published the absence list each day. Mrs. Hilda Dolson was secretary to principal Billy Abel. School clerk, Mrs. Margery Mannuell, processed grade cards and student schedules. In charge of student records and mailing transcripts to colleges and prospective employers was Mrs. Shirley Wattjes. Mrs. Anna Miller was school treasurer and manager of the book store.

Performing one of her many tasks as Mr. Abel's secretary is Mrs. Hilda Dolson.

Mrs. Anna Miller puts her business skills to good use as director of the book den.

Seniors make color change to blue

Senior class officers were Judy Vicent, Jerry Sipe, Terry Lisby, and Beth Klein.

Junior-Senior Prom, Senior Varieties, Baccalaureate and Commencement were just a few of the activities of the senior year.

The senior class made changes for next year's Seniors. The class color was changed from black to Navy blue, and a Senior Christmas Dance was added to the regular activities of the year.

Under the direction of Mr. Daryl Miller and Mr. Jack Jester were class officers Jerry Sipe, President; Judy Vicent, Vice-President; Terry Lisby, Secretary; and Beth Klein, Treasurer.

Demonstrating one of their cheers, are boy yell leaders Danny Britt, John Woodsan, Jim Kingery, Jerry Sipe and Chuck Hibbert.

Applying the techniques they learned in ceramics are Marcia Decker and Vicki Keene.

Sophomores experience active first year

The all-important class rings found their way into the busy school life of the sophomores. The thrill of ordering the rings was almost as great as actually possessing them. This was the first step in becoming an upperclassmen.

Excitement was great during the spring, as the sophomore class party and class elections climaxed a busy year for the future juniors.

The sophomore class officers under the direction of Mrs. Wilma Woods and Mr. William Eaton were Max Magnabosco, President; Steve Gummer, Vice-President; Carol Schoeber, Secretary; and Karen Barker, Treasurer.

THE DOORS OF ADVERTISING

Through these doors passed the businesses of the community as they presented their products to Ben Davis High School.

They competed for the privilege of selling various items to the modern teen-ager.

They swayed popular opinion in favor of their company.

They advertised.

Students find the best in bowling at the Lynhurst Bowl, 111 N. Lynhurst, as Mark Downey and Nancy Confield discover.

Ben Davis pupils employed at Jack's Dag and Suds take time out for a root beer break. Jack's Dog and Suds, 6310 Rockville Road.

Sharon Pierpont and Susan Smith pick out party shoes from Shiff's Shoe Store in Speedway Shopping Center.

Bottling over the whipped cream, John Peterson and Linda Klenk enjoy a sundae of Bob Chapman's Silver Fountain, 5720 West Washington.

1967 KEYHOLE completed—at last!!

Well, there you have it. The story of Ben Davis High School, 1966-67. It is my sincere wish, as well as that of the entire staff, that you have enjoyed reviewing our story as much as we have enjoyed presenting it.

I would also like to take this opportunity to thank the members of my staff for their loyalty and devoted service throughout the year.

Ardith

The entire staff of the 1967 Keyhole wishes to thank the following persons and organizations for their help and cooperation during the year.

Mr. Robert Houston, advisor
 Mr. Billy L. Abel, principal
 Miss Jean Prichard, chairman, English Department
 Ben Davis Athletic Department
 Mr. Dick Kennard, publisher's representative
